DETAILED ACTION

Priority

An application in which the benefits of an earlier application are desired must contain a specific reference to the prior application(s) in the first sentence of the specification of in an application data sheet (37 CFR 1.78(a)(2) and (a)(5)). The specific reference to any prior nonprovisional application must include the relationship (i.e., continuation, divisional, or continuation-in-part) between the applications except when the reference is to a prior application of a CPA assigned the same application number.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference character(s) not mentioned in the description: 9412, 9405, 9408,9505,9508,9410, 9512,9514,9516. Corrected drawing sheets, or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description, are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement-drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Art Unit: 3738

Specification

The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,9-12,16,17,19,20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Eisermann et al. (6827743). Eisermann et al. show (Fig. 5a) a spacer body 30 with a contact element 38a buried in a coating in the form of a mesh 32. Eisermann et al. disclose the contact element is secured by being embedded in the mesh, col. 7, lines 14-16. Eisermann et al. also disclose the contact element is deformable, col. 7, lines 24-27. Eisermann et al. additionally disclose an osteoconductive feature adjacent the contact element, col. 8, lines 24-27, 34-47, col. 9, lines 20-22.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Frey et al. (4932969). Fig. 1 shows an artificial intervertebral disc with first and second baseplates 4,5 having domed outward facing surfaces forming the spacer body. Frey et al. disclose the baseplates are formed of multiple layers, col. 2, lines 39-45. The examiner is interpreting the claimed elements "contact element of a wire mesh" in this way: since there are multiple layers the outer layer can be considered a domed mesh. Claims in a pending application should be given their broadest reasonable interpretation. In re Pearson, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974). See also In re Morris, Fed. Cir. 1997 127 F.3d 1048, 1054, 1055. The mesh is fully capable of having a convexity depth or footprint approximating the depth of a concave surface in a vertebrae. Frey does disclose the prosthesis is compressible (col. 1, lines 51-53), which can be interpreted that the baseplates are movable relative to one another. Frey additionally discloses the contact element is buried or embedded in the plastic or "coating" that covers the contact elements, col. 2, lines 50-53.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-20 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-20 of copending Application No. 10/642522. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the narrower claims of '522 anticipate the broader claims of this application. See In re Goodman.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
